

Christian A. Gamo, Assistant Professor IV

The author is a faculty member of the Public Administration Department, Pangasinan State University-Bayambang Campus. He recently graduated as a Doctor in Public Administration at the Urdaneta City University. He teaches subjects in the BPA program like Politics and Administration, Governance and Development, Administrative Law, Public Fiscal Administration, Philippine Administrative Thought and Research in Public Administration. He has presented several researches both in the local, national and international for a and published some literary works and articles in refereed journals. Dr. Gamo has a simple grasp about poetical thoughts and reasoning making vesting to publish some of his literary pieces with EDUHEART and EDUFOCUS and ETCOR. He has been serving Pangasinan State University for fifteen years and counting. He has come up in writing module/s to further enhance the teaching environment and to catch up in the fast phase world of educational dynamics. This will not only benefit the students but as well as other stakeholders and the university as well.

The Anthology of Puppets:

Rise of the Peasants

They've filched; they've reaped.
From the soil of innocence; voraciously
eaten the seeds of plow.

The bygonos of laborems;
Didn't matter in the hands of the crown.
He sips, he suckles. Care is on struggle.
Lasting in zire; cohorts will conspire.

Deep in the doom; hensmen arise.
Not looking for the price; even they see it in their eyes. Dusting the dirt from the tyrants;
before they become rampant.

The sentient beings ravished by sycophants.
Roots of destitute is shedding in tears. Risen from darkness; heard a voice from the storm.

The sickle and hammer are now sophisticated.
Indeed the arms have might. Crossroads became right. And the chokes are not even tight.

Altus